- Summarize recent brain injury-related research with corresponding practical application.
- Identify clinical management practices, specifically new prevention, diagnosis, and treatment guidelines.
- Describe public health interventions to reduce the impact of brain injury among different types of racial and ethnic populations and settings (e.g., school, workplace, community).
- Understand health care delivery trends and their impact on long-term brain injury management, acute care, and prevention.
- Analyze past brain injury-related interventions and weigh their value in today's world.
- Implement health communication strategies and know how to more effectively reach target populations and raise awareness.
- Summarize brain injury data, including mortality, morbidity, and risk factor prevalence.
- Create networking opportunities and build partnerships with key brain injury researchers, clinicians, and prevention professionals

Continuing education credits will be offered.
